"From birth, man carries the weight of gravity on his shoulders. He is bolted to Earth. But Man has only to sink beneath the surface and he is free. Buoyed by water, he can fly in any direction.... up, down, sideways. Underwater, Man becomes an archangel."

Different, not Less

"Good instructors can teach any child to swim. Great instructors take the child on a journey"

You will learn skills to provide a non-threatening learning environment and to use teaching methods that will enhance the special needs students learning process. You will learn skills to help each of these students with their fears or non-fears of being in the water. You will not only teach swimming skills, you will help teach social interactions skills most special needs students are lacking.
